The Voice of International Trade and Transportation

AICBA has a history dating back to 1952 of sharing best practices and strengthening our voice within the cross border industry.

AICBA brings a unified voice for its members to the international trade community by actively participating in and cooperating with the Canada Border Service Agency, United States Customs and Border Protection and the many other government agencies affecting imports and exports on both sides of the border and beyond.

AICBA makes strong representation to reflect the concerns of our members for the use and reliability of electronic commerce, the changing methods of transacting business, expanding government intervention and for a smooth and efficient border crossing process.

AICBA proudly provides members with four fundamental benefits:

The Voice of International Trade And Transportation

AICBA influences the future of Canadian and United States trade and transportation policy. Through open dialogue with government agencies and policy makers, AICBA works to steer legislation and policy affecting the operations of its members
